The Viewpoint

Greetings Club Members,

Hope you are enjoying your summer!

It is a perfect time to get out and practice your street photography and event photography skills. There are so many summer festivities happening in our communities. I encourage you to have your camera with you and to continue to challenge yourself.

For example walk around with 1 lens preferably prime lens instead of a zoom lens. See what you can capture , you might surprise yourself.

2. Try photographing subjects that are outside your comfort zone. If you photograph 1 particular subject all the time, try a different subject. I regularly photograph real estate/ architecture, so to challenge myself I photograph events or macro subjects.

Take the time to always learn.

Open House Events

The 2nd Saturday of each month the Artists Village will be open to the public from 10am till 4pm. Each of the clubhouses have agreed to be open and to supply activities, tours, and demonstrations of each of their organizations. The Photo Arts Club has the studio group in the clubhouse on this same Saturday, we just wanted to make members aware that the public could stop in for a visit and to remind members to please welcome our visitors. We never know where our next member may learn about us. Metroparks has agreed to add the Open house events to their community calendar and the Metroparks newsletter. So, we are looking for members to assist in shifts to welcome visitors in the afternoons after the studio group is finished. The hours are Noon till 4pm. We prefer that there are two volunteers available.

July 8th – 11am till 4pm- Theme is Chalk Walk Art- There will be chalk artists and stations around the clubhouse for the community to create works of art on the sidewalks. We are encouraged to have our doors open for visitors to join us.

We need 2 additional people to help greet guests in the clubhouse.

Contact Michele Kipplen if you are interested.

Reminder

Just a reminder the clubhouse is closed during the Months of July, through September on Thursdays only at 1pm because of Jazz in the Garden events. The Park requires that all village organizations refrain from having meetings in our clubhouses due to the events.

Thank you for your understanding.

Pact Paparazzi

Education Nights

Previous presentations from Steve Stalker, Michele Kipplen, Donna Gottschalk and Kelly Chalfant are available on the Website

Donna Gottschalk and Jack Myers are working on a presentation for bird photography. The date has not been set yet. In the mean time, Jack put together information on the bird feeders he uses in his yard. Hopefully it inspires you to photograph birds right in your own yard. There are many places in the area to photograph birds, but the convenience of your own yard is special.

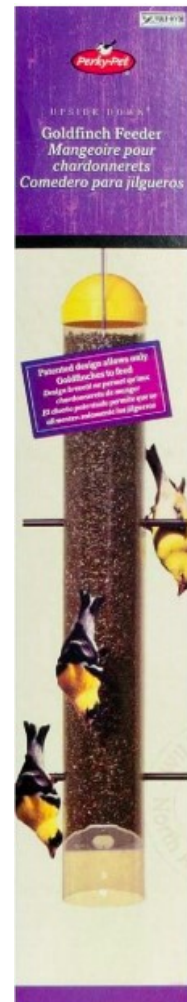

Jack's backyard birding

I have eight different feeders in my yard, some for specific birds. For example, I have an Oriole feeder that is only out from May to July, as they migrate through. Orchard Orioles and Red-Bellied Woodpeckers feed from the orange half or grape jelly that I put out. I live near Grand Rapids near the river. Over the years I have put up specific feeders for several reasons. The birds you see will differ at your location. We have a Bluebird house and ever other year they will nest. By contrast, a friend lives in Whitehouse and they are so plentiful they nested in his newspaper box at the street.

This is an upside-down thistle feeder. Only Goldfinch birds can feed on it. As you can see in the picture, the Goldfinches feed upside-down. They are the only finch that can do this.

With standard thistle feeders, there are several different birds that will come to it. I wanted just Goldfinches.

This example is from Perky-Pets, about $15.

Important Accessories for Your Camera Bag

Article from Anna Koperczak

Promaster circular polarizers and how to use them.

From Mariano de Miquel, MD

An apple tracking device. How does it work? Your AirTag sends out a secure Bluetooth signal that can be detected by nearby devices in the Find My network. These devices send the location of your AirTag to iCloud — then you can go to the Find My app and see it on a map. The whole process is anonymous and encrypted to protect your privacy. And it's efficient, so there's no need to worry about battery life or data usage.

(I learned the hard way.) On my last trip I did not think about taking this tracker and sadly had my gear stolen shortly before boarding the plane for Iceland. If you travel to another country I cannot stress how important it is to include this in your bag.

From Sanjay Gupta

Nothing unless you count, for birds a TC. $400/4.5 + 1.4TC$ so $560@6.3$. Convert to DX to get 840 mm equivalent and about 20Mp with a Z9. Thinking about a 180-600/6.3 to get variable zoom. Maybe filters in the future. Variable ND to start. This picture attached was at 560mm Lots of brush.

Street Photography

The assignment for July is Street photography. Below are some street photography thoughts from the internet:

Typically, street photography is about candidly capturing life in public areas. And contrary to its name, street photography does not have to be done on the streets. You can do street photography anywhere.

A good street photo needs a clearly defined subject. All the rules of composition, such as rule of thirds, leading lines, use of negative space, symmetry, frames, etc. still hold. Try and tell a story with your images. Create photographs where the viewer pauses and asks questions.

Whether or not street shots need people in them is up for debate.

Shadows can be used to capture thought-provoking shots, even if you can't see the humans casting them. You could photograph things left behind by people. These images leave the viewer wondering what the story is behind the discarded objects.

Taking photographs in public spaces is legal in "most" countries. In both Canada and the United States, this is true. If you are in a public area, you are well within your rights to take pictures. However, it is important to realize that even if you are shooting in a public space, you must exercise a reasonable expectation of privacy.

The 4th of July holiday should provide some good opportunities for street photography.
